v1 Come, let's survey the scene,
 There's a lovely view,
 Everywhere we've been
 Together, me and you;
 And across those years,
 Across the far and near,
 Still one thing is clear,
 I still love you.
 For now I stand upon this hill and gaze
 At shapes of former times now lost in haze,
 Yet other times are lit by clear and gentle yellow rays;
 A shaft of pure golden light shines from the skies,
 And that's the beauty in your heart,
 And now I realise.

v2 Come, let's survey the sky,
 It's a lovely hue,
 Although in times gone by There've been storm clouds too;
 Yet through the wind and rain,
 Through all the hurt and pain,
 Still one thing remains,
 I still care.
 I've stood in darkness fumbling through my doubt,
 Wondering what this crazy world's about,
 Yet one light keeps on shining and has never been put out
 A shaft of pure golden light shines from the skies,
 And that's the beauty in your heart,
 And now I realise.

v3 Come, let's look ahead,
 Can we tell somehow,

If it be hope or dread
That we should tread with now?;
Yet years may come and go,
Our lives will ebb and flow,
But there's one thing I know,
I'll still be there;
I promise you wherever you may be,
Rest assured whatever you may do,
Every time you turn your thoughts to me
I'll be somewhere near, and all my thoughts will be with you;
A shaft of pure golden light shines from the skies,
And that's the beauty in your heart,
And now I realise....
